“I’m most proud of the happy faces of the children. That parents are grateful. That we grow together.”

Her tip for people with big dreams? “Start early. Ask for help. And remember: there’s a solution for everything.”

A place where everyone feels at home

Since August, her daycare has been open. The routine is gradually settling in, the team works well together, and parents are enthusiastically involved.

“Together we’re building the organization and making sure everyone feels supported. That’s crucial.”

What makes her daycare unique?

Independence! “Children help out, hang up their coats, fold the laundry. And playing outside? That’s a must here.”

During Childcare Week, she received lots of compliments from parents. “That really felt good. It confirmed that we’re on the right track.”
